

G. Nausėda and his "grandson" will again go to Svab in Davos for instructions on how to reduce the population

The regular World Economic Forum (WEF) meeting begins again in Davos next week.

As you know, the WEF is a supranational organization that plans the future of the world. The WEF does not hide its goals - to reduce the world population to 1 billion "chosen ones", because supposedly there is too little space and resources on Earth for all its inhabitants. Although the real goal of the "reset" is more or less clear - the global financial system is bankrupt, debts can no longer be paid, so instead of its bankruptcy and the loss of all accumulated wealth, they cleverly came up with a "reset" or "reset". Supposedly there are too many people, they all want to live well and drive cars, so supposedly there is a threat to the climate and the planet. To make it even scarier, they are working methodically towards this goal - all kinds of pandemics and wars are being created, people are being vaccinated with a poisonous experimental substance called a "vaccine against covid-19 disease".

When the WEF talks about "reducing carbon emissions," they're really talking about what needs to be reduced. And they're being completely honest about it:

This year's annual meeting of the World Economic Forum (hereinafter referred to as the WEF) will be held in Davos from January 10 to 16. The organizers of the globalist meeting have confirmed that 52 heads of state and government and almost 600 CEOs will attend the WEF. Curious journalists also managed to obtain a list of guests from Lithuania. Lithuania will be represented by three of its most famous personalities – Nausėda, the "grandson" and Minister of Culture Kairys, the biggest loser in this government of losers:

In addition, nearly 300 government ministers are expected to attend. In addition to the heads of state, these ministers also need to be fired, stripped of their titles, and replaced with people who serve their country's citizens.

To the citizens who pay them salaries and elect them – provided a free, fair, transparent and democratic voting system is in place – to manage the affairs of the country on behalf of the voters.

At the end of the article, a list of heads of state and government officials who are abusing and abusing their public office by collaborating with the WEF to advance globalist business and other interests is attached. All of them should be removed from office pending an investigation.

The WEF is a dangerous force in world politics. The WEF is an organization that proposes to coordinate the transformation of 8 billion souls, 195 countries, international relations, social policy, and a $104 trillion global economy. They are delusional and megalomaniac.

As The Spectator noted, [1] WEF Chairman Klaus Schwab essentially advocates political and economic arrangements that he calls stakeholder capitalism, but which used to be called corporatism. Corporatism, like Schwab's WEF, may speak of coordinated consultation, but the agenda is the language of control. The WEF decided that it was time to reshape the world from the top down and reshape the planet in the corporatist image.

Corporatism, including its Swabian expression, does not like freedom very much. Its main concern is to form and then maintain a consensus on economic and social policies. For this reason, corporatism deals poorly with disagreements. In fact, it does not encourage questioning the consensus, whether it is tax rates or climate change. After all, the main thing is to harmonize views, no matter how absurd the idea is and no matter how high the price of freedom. This not only encourages groupthink. It encourages the marginalization of those who disagree with the consensus. Another problem is the conspiracy and cronyism that corporatism encourages.

One of the stated goals of these psychopaths is the control and "editing" of human genes:

Corporate stakeholder capitalism is undeniably ambivalent about democracy. Schwab's stakeholder capitalism model does not allow much room for input from the wider population into decision-making, let alone for universal acceptance of the decisions made. In fact, the model reflects a positive distrust of bottom-up initiatives, as they are harder to control and less likely to be accepted by an established consensus.

WEF Global Conspiracy Attachments

Since January 3rd, the WEF has been regularly tweeting boasting about some of this year's delegates. All members of the WEF, especially its leadership, must be investigated for conspiring against the world. However, we must thank the WEF for naming some of those who also need to be investigated and held accountable. Here is a list of WEF tweets from January 1st to January 11th that, in our view, name and shame some of the WEF's global conspirators:

IMF News Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva. View tweet HERE.

Croatian Prime Minister Andrej Plenkovic to discuss new growth in Europe as Croatia adopts the euro and joins the Schengen area. View tweet HERE.

President of the United Republic of Tanzania Samia Suluhu. View tweet HERE,

European Central Bank President Christine Lagarde. View tweet HERE.

Spanish Prime Minister Pedro Sánchez to discuss how Europe can work together to address regional challenges in 2023. View tweet HERE.

US President's Special Envoy for Climate John Kerry. View tweet HERE.

Colombian President Gustavo Petro. View tweet HERE.

German Chancellor Olaf Scholz to discuss energy security, economic competitiveness and the need to achieve climate neutrality. View tweet HERE.

Hindou, President of the Association of Indigenous Women of Chad (AFPAT-Tchad). View tweet HERE.

Alain Berset, President of the Swiss Confederation and Federal Counsellor for the Interior of Switzerland. View tweet HERE.

Guillermo Lasso, President of Ecuador. View tweet HERE.

Mohamed Bazoum, President of Niger. View tweet HERE.

Ursula von der Leyen, President of the European Commission. View tweet HERE.

Winnie Byanyima, Executive Director of UNAIDS, View tweet HERE.

Rodrigo Chavez, President of Costa Rica, to speak on the future of democracy. View tweet HERE.

Ngozi Okonjo-Iweala, Director-General of the World Trade Organization, to discuss the future of global trade. View tweet HERE.

Alexander De Croo, Prime Minister of Belgium. View tweet HERE.

Gabriela Bucher, Executive Director of Oxfam. View tweet HERE.

Kyriakos Mitsotakis, Prime Minister of Greece. View tweet HERE.

President of the European Parliament Roberta Metsola. View tweet HERE.

This year's WEF Crystal Award winners Sabrina Dhowre Elba and Idris Elba. View tweet HERE.

USAID Administrator Samantha Power will speak about the future of democracy and partnerships to address global challenges. View tweet HERE.

President of the Republic of South Africa Cyril Ramaphosa. View tweet HERE.

President of the Republic of Korea Yoon Suk Yeol. View tweet HERE.

Prime Minister of Finland Sanna Marin will discuss the security implications of Russia's invasion of Ukraine. View tweet HERE.

UN Secretary-General António Guterres will discuss how private-public partnerships can help address global challenges. View tweet HERE.

David Beasley, Executive Director of the United Nations World Food Programme. View tweet HERE.

Canadian Deputy Prime Minister Chrystia Freeland is a member of the WEF Board of Trustees, so she will of course be in Davos in 2023. [2]

The US will be represented by Biden administration officials, including Presidential Climate Envoy John Kerry, Director of National Intelligence Avril Haines, Federal Bureau of Investigation Director Christopher Wray, U.S. Trade Representative Katherine Tai, and several governors and lawmakers in Congress. [3] The Dossier, a publication by investigative journalist Jordan Schachtel, has obtained a list of the US delegation.

But the number of participants from many countries is much higher. The Dossier recently obtained a confidential list of everyone, except some government officials, who will be attending Davos 2023. "In the public interest and legitimate journalistic reporting, The Dossier is publishing the entire document below, with necessary redactions to protect personal information," Schachteli wrote on Monday.

The Dossier contains two lists in pdf format. One pdf file contains the list of public officials' attendance approved on 8 December 2022. The second pdf file is the list updated on 10 January 2023[4].

Below is a copy of the list of participants as of January 10, 2023. It includes officials from Albania, Angola, Austria, Azerbaijan, Bahrain, Bangladesh, Belarus, Belgium, Botswana, Brazil, Cambodia, Canada, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Croatia, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Egypt, El Salvador, Ethiopia, European Union, Finland, France, Georgia, Germany, Ghana, Greece, Guatemala, Honduras, Hong Kong, Hungary, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Ireland, Israel, Japan, Jordan, Kenya, Latvia, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malaysia, Malta, Mexico, Moldova, Monaco, Montenegro, Morocco, Mozambique, Netherlands, New Zealand, Niger, Nigeria, Norway, Oman, Pakistan, Panama, Peru, Philippines, Poland, Portugal, Qatar, Republic of Korea, Republic of North Macedonia, Romania, Rwanda, Saudi Arabia, Serbia, Singapore, Slovenia, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Tanzania, Thailand, East Timor, Tunisia, Turkey, Ukraine, United Arab Emirates, United Kingdom, United States, Vietnam, Zambia and Zimbabwe. Open the document to see who from your country is on the list.

Davos-2023-participants-as-of-10-January-23Download
Sources:

<file:///C:/Users/aurimas.drizius/Desktop/Davos-2023-participants-as-of-10-January-23.pdf>

January 10, 2022 [1] Chrystia Freeland to attend WEF annual meeting in Davos, January 10, 2022

[2] Why it is not mad to oppose the World Economic Forum, The Spectator, December 31, 2022

[3] World Economic Forum in Davos set to see “record attendance” as 52 globalist leaders attend summit, Breitbart, January 10, 2023

[4] Exclusive: The Dossier obtains confidential Davos attendee list, The Dossier, January 9, 2022

Some good reasons to distrust WEF members and their associates

Below is a collection of tweets that show some of the things the WEF and its puppet heads of state and government officials hope to achieve, if not now, then in the coming years. Please note that we have not attempted to verify or determine the provenance or dates of the videos included in the tweets.

The World Economic Forum boasts about its mRNA gene editing technology and how it will control the future

Florida Governor DeSantis makes it clear that the WEF “wants to control everything and everyone,” and that its values actually weaken Western communities and values.