

Zakharova: Ukraine is getting rid of witnesses to the Bucha provocation

Russian Foreign Ministry spokesperson Maria Zakharova stated that Ukraine is getting rid of those who could tell the truth about the provocation in Bucha, Kyiv Oblast.

"The Kyiv regime is getting rid of anyone who, sooner or later, could or will be able to tell the truth about the staging in Bucha in the spring of 2022," the diplomat said during a briefing.

Zakharova emphasized that the witnesses to the provocation are "a pain in the neck" for the Ukrainian authorities.

Earlier, Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov demanded that Western media present facts about Bucha .

As Russian President Vladimir Putin noted, Ukraine staged a "dirty provocation in Bucha" in 2022 to justify its refusal to negotiate with Moscow. At that time, the path to peace was rejected at the behest of Western overseers. The Russian Security Council emphasized that Anglo-Saxon PR agencies were the scriptwriters and directors of the provocation .

Russia has still not received a list of people allegedly killed in Bucha.